BEST PRACTICES

1. Seed Money for research for Faculty and Students

The institution provides seed money to motivate faculty members and enhance their research interests, which may lead to major research proposals for submission to National/ International funding agencies. The institution is providing seed money for research since 2017 onwards. From 2020-2021 onwards project fund has been given to students also.

The Research Cell of our college invites proposal from the students and teachers in the beginning of the academic year. The proposal will be sent the experts to scrutiny and selection. The selected proposal will be intimated and the project amount will be sanctioned in 2 installments.

The Institution provides seed money for research since 2017. The year wise split up with the sanctioned amount is given below.

2017-2018- 2,00,000/-

2018-2019- 3,15,000/-

2019-2020- 2,01,000/-

2020-2021- 3,40,000/-

2021-2022 – 3,10,000/-

The principal investigators have to submit the final report and statement of expenditure in the month of April. Their research work is validated through presentation by inviting experts.

There are no significant barriers in implementing this practice. In fact there is increase in number of proposal and the seed money has also been increased. The institution has sanctioned 2,20,000 for Faculty project and 90,000 for student research project. The institution also supports the faculty financially to publish articles in reputed journals and to participate in seminars, conferences and workshops.
